Criticism of St. Louis for its failure to co-operate with St. Louis County in the designation and im provement of traffic arteries connecting the two areas and of the St. Louis County Court for its failure to employ an expert engineer to draft a county road plan is contained in a letter received by the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce today from James M. Text of the Letter. Rohan's letter in part follows:
"A survey by the St. Louis that county road problems cannot be solved satisfactorily unless the City of St. Louis agrees by cooperating with the county to make certain street and road improvements. These street and road improvements should be made to conform with a general plan of street and road building for all of the Greater St. Louis Area.

"St. Louis County has $10,000,-000 to expend on roads and the State Highway Department will expend approximately $8,000,000 in St. Louis County. But in order to provide a system of highways which will serve St. Louis City as well as St. Louis County, the City of St. Louis will be compelled to expend a large sum providing con-nections with widened roads entering the City of St. Louis. "The County Court has stated that it will not prepare a compre-hensive road plan until a suit pending in the Supreme Court to the $10,000,000 County Bond Issue has been dropped or decided, and furthermore, the State must designate its highways in St. Louis County before the court will pre-pare its plan. St. Louisan Sold Garments Like Those Found Near Scene of Femme Osage Killing.

A Market Street merchant this afternoon recalled selling two coveralls, similar to those found near the farm of Miss Pauline Duebbert near Femme Osage, St. Charles County, who was shot and killed Thursday night by two men her cousin, August Myer, the slayers' garments were those

The storekeeper, Andrew Markham, 1531 Market Street, said that he sold the coverails, one size 42 and the other size 40, to two young men one afternoon about two weeks ago. One of the men was unusually tall, he said. Markham also carries in stock handkerchiefs and work gloves similar to those found strewn along a woods road overlooking the orchard where the shooting occurred but does not re-member whether the men bought any of these.

The storekeeper was visited after he manufacturer of the overalls -the Globe Overall Co., of Cin-cinnati-had been traced through a label found on one of the dis-carded garments, bearing the name of the maker and the words: "Allrite Brand, triple stitch, size

The union stamp number is 7235994. The label of the other coverall, which appeared to be of the same size and was similar in appearance, had been ripped off, but its union stamp No. 7236363 remained. Both garments were tained, and were new.

Given this information by telephone, officers of the overall com-pany checked back on their shipment record, finding that practi-cally all of "Lot 100" consisting of about 70 dozen overalls, had been consigned to the following concerns, besides Markman's: Al-bert Rist, furnishings, 1902 Arsenal street; Gutfreund Bros., 2430 South Broadway, and Sellner-Crow, St. Louis avenue and Col-linsville road, East St. Louis.

Most of the merchandise was purchased during the last two onths. A further check will be made to determine whether any mall consignments went to any other stores.

Sheriff Grothe will obtain today he make and serial number of a revolver found yesterday on a wooded ridge overlooking the ap-ple orchard where he shooting oc-curred. by Otto Brinkmann, whose farm adjoins the Duebbert farm. Brinkmann lifted it on a stick, so as not to obscure any finger prints, and took it home. It contained five exploded shells. Three load-ed cartridges had previously been found nearby.

Sheriff Grothe 'hinks the murerers are residents of St. Charles

The killers apparently knew and secreted her money at home, although they left without finding it. They escaped in an automobile through a dense woods which could not have been traversed except by one familiar with the ground. Myer was shot four times through the head and is at St. Joseph's Hospital in St. Charles, unable to talk.

HAY-FEVER FORECLOSURE SALE

Lake Charles Burial Park In-- junction Issued by Judge Nolte.

An injunction to delay fore-closure sale under an $85,000 mortgage on Lake Charles Burial Park, Carson and St. Charles Rock roads, for six months or until a pending receivership suit is settled, was issued bp Circuit Judge Nolte today at Clayton.

Suit was filed two years ago by Frank H. Brown, president, and E. Melvin Folsom, trustees of Carlton Securities Co., the holding com-pany, against the remaining trustees, Horace G. Beedle, treasur-er, Richard Hassall, sales manager. and Carlton G. Haizlip.

The plaintiffs alleged that Beedle secretly bought the deed of trust, and that three months later they were informed that renewal would not be granted while their suit for receivership was pending. The present holder is named as the Western Funeral Benefit Associaion, of which Beedle is president and Haizlip secretary.

"With meticulous care." Judge

Nolte, in his decision, wrote of the formation of the cemetery enterprise, "a framework of abstruse egal machinery was set up to protect the trustees from personal liability, to avoid the usual obligations of partners and to escape he regulatory laws governing cororations protecting those who inest therein. Thus shielded and equipped, with greed their guiding star, they desecrated God's acres and opened and maintained a com-

"The trustees were obligated to use their best efforts to protect the trust and hold the property. They were guardians of the dead, not free lances for their own selfish gain.

"Brown attempted to renew the oian, and the court finds that nonest co-operation on the part of the defendant trustees would have resulted in a renewal on very favorable terms. Beedle was faith-less to his trust when he secretly purchased the deed of trust on July 25, 1927.

"A court of conscience must condemn such conduct. A suit for receivership was pending. The trust needed scrupulous fidelity, and if the exigency required a pur-chase of the deed, it should have been purchased with the full knowledge and consent of the "Beedle and Haizlip were ma ority stockholders in the Western Funeral Benefit Association and must be charged with full knowledge of the fact of the purchase The court finds that the Western Funeral Benefit Association is not an innocent purchaser and finds that it is a trustee maleficio of this deed of trust. It is evidenced that it was purchased by Beedle to gain an advantage over the plaintiffs.

The court will not permit such a erversion of power.
"A foreclosure would take away

the beautiful entrance, sell the bones of the dead upon the auction block, seriously impair the grossly neglected perpetual care fund. The defendants know this. Hassall, who sold these sacred spots to hundreds, certainly does not want a foreclosure. Beedle and Haizlip voted against a foreclosure at a directors' meeting of the Advertise lost articles promptly at a directors' meeting of the the Post-Dispatch to recover tion. The big drive to win back the American youth to the National game of baseball is on. Perhaps the most important step to keep baseball before Junior America is the American Legion's annual junior tournament now nearing its second annual climar. THAT there is a falling off of interest in the game is revealed not only by sporting goods houses, but by the anxiety of the major league leaders to keep the kids interested. The legion junior championship is an offshoot of that thought. It is, in a way, a "booster" organization

Yesterday the National Broad-casting Co., through a national hookup. broadcast this year's ac-tivities of the boys of America in the baseball field with talks by K. M. Landis, baseball com-issioner, Art Shires, Hack Wil-son and others including Legion baseball is not in a class with basketball, and it is doubtful if representing all sections of the country and all population centers from towns of a few hundred to cities numbering millions, probably surprised a great many pessimists who have held that baseball as a sport for America's youth no longer dewhich the youth of the country favored above all others, basketball would have to be the choice. In this game boys and girls alike are interested. In state tournaments entries number high in the hundreds and came from cross roads hamlets as well as even second.

While the information broadcast still does not prove that baseball is first in the hearts of young America, it does indicate a widespread interest among the boys, one that insures plenty of

THE best way to nationalize any pastime is to make it pop-ular in our schools from the low-est grade to the highest. Efforts legiate circles, expense and su-pervision are secondary consid-erations. Yet, in the financial reports of practically every ma-jor college institution in the country baseball has to be charged off as a losing sport.

The one way to interpret this is that college baseball is not interesting to either the student body or the general public.

Major leagues have been min-imizing the help they get from college recruits. But it is a source of supply that they may lose entirely, before very long, because the "national game" is no longer national in our uni-

A recent writer to the People's Column of the Post-Dispatch commented upon the fact that the company's employes, policemen and city firemen are transported free in street cars. The writer inquired as to the amount of revenue lost to the company in this free transportation, which is at the expense of other car riders. The total of company employes, policemen and firemen is 8406. If 8000 of these rode the cars 12 times a week (on the new 12-rides-tor-90-cents schedule) the company would derive a revenue of $374,400 a year. This sum added to the increase in expenses shown above would amount to $589,429,43, almost exactly the increased revenue the company derived from the 8-cent fare over the 71/2-cent fare.

DETROIT, Aug. 25 .- Municipal ownership and operation of street railways in Detroit is no longer an experiment. Its success has been demonstrated so conclusively that the most conservative bankers and business men no longer question it. Traction magnates in other cities may whisper in their clubs about "Detroit's adventure is Socialism," but among the people of Detroit such a suggestion the city. That precedent has been curred under private ownership.

In seven years of municipal ownership and operation the street railways have produced approximately $18.000,000 in excess of their operating costs, and this surplus has been applied in paying off the original purchase price of the lines, and in making new additions and betterments. They are now setting aside about $3,000,000 a year for those purposes. They have accomplished all this on a fare which has never been higher than the present rate of 6 cents plus a panion and other periodicals, and actly what the property cost. A recent writer to the People's Column of the Post-Dispatch commented upon the fact that the company's employes, policemen and city firemen are transported free in street cars. The writer inquired as to the amount of revenue lost to the company in this free transportation, which is at the expense of other car riders. The total of company employes, policemen and firemen is 8408. If 8000 of these rode the cars 12 times a week (on the new 12-rides-tor-90-cents schedule) the company would derive a revenue of $374,400 a year. This sum added to the increase in expenses shown above would amount to $589,429,43, almost exactly the increased revenue the company derived from the 8-cent fare

Other Cities and Higher Carfares

Portland (Ore.) editor predicts empty cars at 10-cent rate and full loads at a profit if 5-cent fare returned; points out economic law of diminishing returns; Kansas City Star, in city also facing increase, sees 12-ride ticket plan offered in St. Louis as "obviously crude proposal," penalizing all patrons.

THE LAW OF DIMINISHING RETURNS. From the Portland (Ore.) Telegram. N its petition to the Public Service Commission asking for 10-cent street car fare in Portland, the Portland Electric Power

"There has been a steady and marked decline in revenue passengers carried and hence in gross revenue for a number of years and during the last nine months this decline has taken place at an accelerated . The outstanding factor in this decline is, of course, the enormous in crease in popularity and use of privately owned automobiles.

By an amazing process of reasoning, the Portland Electric Power Co. argues that the way to meet and overcome a menacing competition is to raise the price on its service. Since people decline to ride on street cars at 8 cents a ride, the thing to do is charge them 10 cents and watch them for a chance at a strap.

In our college days they called it in the returns." As we recall, the textbook put the principle in understandable terms bant nas and oranges. At a reasonable price one will buy bananas, but if the price of bananas goes up, and the price of oranges ren.ains constant or goes down, the time will come when a purchaser who has regard for his pocketbook will ignore his fondness for bananas, save his money and buy oranges instead When that point is reached, the bananas remain on the fruit stand, high priced in theory but in fact a total loss to the fruit seller and to the ban na-hungry customer as well. The dealer might as well say, "Yes, we have no bananas," as to try to sell them at a prohibitive price.

The way to make money in the banana business is to handle the fruit in carload lots and sell lots of bananas-cheap. If the Portland Electric Power Co. expects to make money in the transportation business, it must handle that, too, in carload lots and sell it cheap.

With a 10-cent fare, the company would have to run empty cars at a heavy loss. With a 5-cent fare the company would run full cars at a substantial profit. The only way to beat the law of diminishing returns s to diminish the price.

BETTER SERVICE, NOT HIGHER FARES, From the Kansas City Star.

THE street car fare situation in St. Louis I is of considerable interest in Kansas City for the double reason of the higher fare attempt here and the partly common ownership of the railways in the two centers. The St. Louis company seeks to defend its proposed fare schedule on the ground that it is designed to increase street car patronage. That, indeed, is a worthy aim. Yet no better scheme could be devised to defeat it than the fare proposuls set up for the Missouri city. For, aside from the materially higher 10-cent fare that would have to be paid by the occasional street car rider, the new scale offered the city would penalize the consistent users of the service whose patronage chiefly must be

The St. Louis company is selling a book this ostensibly lower fare scheme is that the great majority of people using the street cars regularly need less than 12 tickets a week. The buyer must use not less, than 10 rides to save anything. Such an obviously crude proposal has, of course, been understood at once. It could deceive nobody. Yet it remains a fact, as the company seems to have gathered in this instance, that the hope of street car transportation is fundamentally through the attraction of a larger patronage and the setting up of an effective competition with the motor vehicle. The way is not through higher fares that would tend to create antagonism and drive patronage away. through faster schedules and improved service in every other possible respect. The whole tendency of mass production and operation in the country has been to offer more without raising prices, and even in many cases to lower the costs to the public.

TROLLEYLESS VERMONT.

From the Boston Post. SURPRISING as it may seem, Vermont has just seen the abandonment of its last trolley line. There is probably not another state in the Union but has at least one of these once highly considered and still very useful methods of transportation.

This defunct line ran from Burlington to Winooski and Essex Junction, that place given immortal fame by Judge Phelps' witty poem. It had 16 miles of track, so it was not an insignificant road. They say that since its building, years ago, it has carried more people than any country trolley in the land. Be that as it may, the bus has proved its undoing as it has of so many long-distance trolley lines. So a crapedraped car was burned at the terminus in Burlington while a band played Chopin's Funeral March. Eheu Fugaces.

of June 7 when he and four other maintained by the Union and the International Workers' Relief for Strikers from the Loray Cotton Mill. He died the following day.

Thirteen of the defendants, who have been held without bail on charges of first degree murder, were brought here this morning from Gastonia. Three women accused of second degree murder have been free on bond.

The cases first were called in Gaston Superior Court July 29. A change of venue was granted by Judge M. V. Barnhill.

Judge Barnhill today overruled defense motions for quashing the indictment, striking out certain words in the indictment and a demurrer asking that the bill of particulars ordered at the Gastonia hearing be made more specific.

The demurrer motion caused some delay when Arthur Garfield Hayes, chief counsel for the American Civil Liberties Union, who joined the defense counsel Saturday, insisted on arguing it. He charged that the State had made a "dragnet of vague charges," which were not specific in time and place.

In overruling the motion, the Judge ordered the State to make more definite the conspiracy to murder charge and said that if this was not done he would reconsider the motions.

Marinello Tissue Cream contains no animal or vegetable fats (which are common in most skin foods and tissue creams). It therefore most skin foods and tissue creams). It therefore cannot go rancid in the jar or rancidify in the pores to cause pimples and eruptions. A corrective for dryness, fine lines, roughness and wrinkles. Its regular use will keep the face and neck firm and unlined. Two sizes: $1 and $2.

Marinello Combination Cold Cream cools the skin upon application, softens and lubricates the skin, and contains also a slight active bleach. It is a cream of much lighter tex-ture than Tissue Cream, and is the choice of many women for this reason. It contains no animal fat or vegetable fat, so it cannot go ran-cid in the jar or on the skin. Two sizes: $1 and $2.

A real Skin Tonic

In contrast with other skin tonics, Marinello Skin Toning Lotion is free from alcohol, and so is not drying. It refreshes and tones the skin by invigorating the blood flow, and so its effect is not a superficial sensation of coolness (caused by evaporation of alcohol tonics) but is a truly samulating effect caused by increased circulation. The regular use of the Lotion prevents flabbiness and wrinkles and corrects relaxed pores and coarseness. $1 a bottle.

Marinello Astringent Lotion is a stronger lotion, formulated especially for oiliness and coarse pores. It restrains the secretion of oil by the sebaceous glands, contracts the distended mouths of open pores, and improves the texture of a coagrained skin. $1 a bottle.

This Powder cannot blotch

Marinello Powder is a scientifically perfect face powder. It cannot blotch on the skin, contains no starch to swell or ferment in the pores. Spreads evenly, covers smoothly and adheres for hours. Made in two weights, to meet the requirements of different types of skin. Light for a sensitive rough flaky skin. Heavy for a thicker smooth skin, the oily type. Both weights come in 7 correct shades: Flesh, Naturelle, Rachel, Ochre, Suntan, Orchid, White, $1 a box.

> A Lipstick that is really permanent

With the Marinello Lipstick, your make-up will last all day. The cream base keeps your lips soft and smooth. The color is ground to incredible fineness and blended so thoroughly that the Lipstick is of uniform color throughout, and spreads smoothly and evenly on your lips. $1 in a cunning silver case.

> A Shampoo Soap without free alkali

The new Marinello Shampoo Liquid contains no free alkali, to dry the scalp and make the hair harsh and rough. This Shampoo leaves the hair soft and lustrous. You can see and feel the difference after the first shampoo.

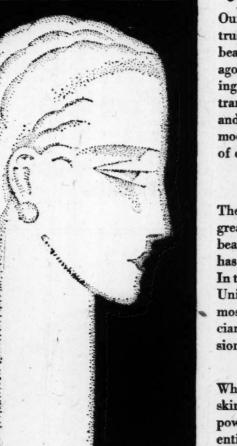

Its regular use will often correct the kind of flaking dandruff which has been caused by the ous use of an irritating alkaline seap. $.50

Your skin needs a professional treatment once a week

A Marinello operator knows how to prescribe for your skin just the corrective treatment it needs, whether for dryness, coarse pores, wrinkles, or whatnot. Her trained fingers can bring up swift circulation to clear and brighten your skin. The gentle electric current which she employs to supplement her massage—a unique feature of the Marinello method—stimulates the muscles to renewed elasticity and firmness and stirs the glands of the skin to functioning normally. No wonder a Marinello facial treatment smooths out wrinkles! Have one today.

What has our Laboratory to do with your skin?

Our laboratory is your beauty insurance. You can trust your skin to Marinello Products. A century ago, beauty aids were sold as magic balms. A generation ago, ambitious women here and there, with a smattering of superficial knowledge, set themselves up arbitrarily as "beauty experts" and began mixing creams and lotions. Today, Marinello is the first to adapt the modern method of scientific research to the making of corrective toilet preparations.

THE ACCEPTED PROFESSIONAL TREATMENT LINE

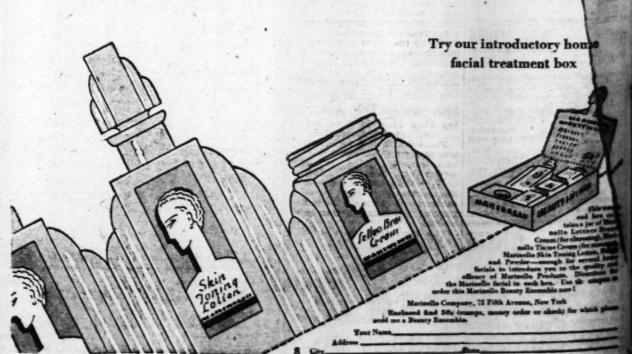

The Marinello laboratory is comparable to those of the great medical research foundations. In the Marinelle beauty clinics and the Marinello Schools, the company has a "proving ground" like that of General Motors. In the thousands of Marinello beauty shops all over the United States, Marinello Products are subjected to the most critical professional use. Among expert beauticians, Marinello Products are the accepted professional treatment line.

DEMONSTRATED SUPERIORITY

What has this laboratory background to do with your skin? Our laboratory research has resulted in a powder that cannot blotch on your skin, a shampoo entirely without free alkali to make your hair harsh and rough, a lipstick that is permanent-toilet preparations for every need that supply that need with the certainty of science. DISCRIMINATION AGAINST WOOL OF MISSOURI TOPIC OF MEETING

Conference Held Under Auspices of Agriculture Committee of Chamber of Commerce.

A conference of St. Louis wool dealers and growers to discuss alleged discrimination against Missouri wool was held today under auspices of the Agricultural Committee of the Chamber of Commerce in the chamber's offices.

J. W. Burch of the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri, which suggested the meeting, presided. Missouri wool, it was said, is discriminated against at the rate of 5 cents a pound, on the ground of inferior packing, etc. The conference discussed ways and means of eliminating the discrim-
